Many people believe that there is physiological or psychological evidence for the human brain's capacity to do far more than we imagine: after all, they say, we only use 10 percent of our brains. They claim that psychic powers, including telekinesis, psychokinesis are merely the result of psychics being able to use more of their brains than others.

Here is how Hollywood and Bollywood has portrayed the subject of telekinesis in entertainment movies with storylines set in more or less the real world. A second much longer list further down this page not covers ALL psychokinesis related movies and TV shows and includes the titles listed in this upper section. Telekinesis is the movement of matter by mental means at the micro and macro levels, while psychokinesis (the general term) applies to any of a variety of more complex mind-matter effects, including TK.
